Assessor Training Qualifications

In 2012, NVQ Assessor training qualifications such as the A1 and A2 awards were replaced by an updated suite of assessing and internal verifying qualifications commonly referred to as TAQA. This led to a choice of QCF assessor training qualifications based on the Qualification and Credit Framework (QCF) of awards, units and certificates. The new A1 assessor course is known as the Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement, however, small units and award based assessor training qualifications are available depending upon your requirements.

Programme/Course Content

QCF Assessor training courses & qualifications available at Guardian Angels Training include:

- Level 3 Award in Understanding the Principles and Practices of Assessment QCF – this unit outlines the theory of assessing only and is currently required by First Aid trainers and assessors due to the October 2015 First Aid regulatory requirements.
- Level 3 Award in Assessing Competence in the Work Environment QCF – this assessor qualification is aimed at those assessors who are required to carry out work based assessments.
- Level 3 Award in Assessing Vocationally Related Achievement QCF – this assessor qualification allows those to assess all areas including the classroom or workplace.
- Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement QCF (CAVA) – this assessor qualification includes all the QCF assessor training units and is therefore ideally suited for those assessing across a range of assessor environments including the classroom and workplace.

Aimed at: Each of our courses can be tailored to meet your team's requirements, whether introductory, intermediate or advanced. We can design the ideal solution to accommodate your team's ability, knowledge, practical experience and previous training.

Accreditation: All our Assessor qualifications are approved and accredited by an Ofqual regulated awarding organisation so that recognised QCF assessor qualifications are provided upon successful completion on the assessor training course.

Further information: Course bookings and enrolment is throughout the year so you can join our assessor training course at any time. Contact us via email or telephone to discuss your requirements.
