

CLINICAL SKILLS & MANAGEMENT

Managing Blood and Body Fluid Spillages

Upon completion of the Managing Blood and Body Fluid Spillages course, delegates will have the knowledge and understanding of how to deal with and manage blood or body fluid spillages by utilising best practice guidelines and how to correctly use a spillage kit.

Programme/Course Content

- What is a Biohazard
- Legislation and Regulations
- Risk assessments
- Biohazards within the workplace
- Effective decontamination
- Safe disposal
- Surveillance and audit
- Practical demonstrations
- Summary and evaluation

Aimed at: Each of our courses can be tailored to meet your team's requirements, whether introductory, intermediate or advanced. We can design the ideal solution to accommodate your team's ability, knowledge, practical experience and previous training.

Accreditation: Compliant with the National Occupation Standards for Health and Social Care Workers and satisfies the requirements of the Care Quality Commission

Further information: To find out more about our Managing Blood and Bodily Fluids Course or to discuss the rest of our services, give the team a call today.